Georg von Stradiot

The Count Julius II von Hardegg built in 1580 Castle Stetteldorf in a renaissance style. Then, in 1705, the owners undertook a baroque remodeling. However, after the war ended in 1945, the buildings and all the equipment were destroyed.

For many years, the owner Georg Stradiot worked hard to rehabilitate the architecture and endangered object. He also made great effort to restore the original state of the castle.

Greetings by the owner, Count Markus
Hoyos- Lunch in *Schloss Rosenberg

The Renaissance castle of Rosenberg with its medieval core, splendid Renaissance arcades, numerous towers and impressive courtyard is considered to be the perfect example of a fortification having gradually evolved over the course of the centuries. Its history dates back to the 12th century, with a first written record attesting a castle was already erected. During the 15th century, the castle was significantly extended and adapted to gothic style. However, at the end of the next century and after several changes of ownership, most of the Gothic parts were destroyed and rebuilt in Renaissance style. The year 1681 is a landmark date within the history of castle Rosenberg: two dynasties merged and landlords were onwards called "von Hoyos-Sprinzenstein". Since that year, the castle remained under the ownership of the Hoyos family until today.

FRIDAY 6th MAY

16.00 Depart to Schloss Maissau

16.30 Visit by the proprietor, Count Ernst Abensperg-Traun

The castle of Maissau is located in the western part of the Lower Austrian municipality Maissau, in the district of Hollabrunn. The history of the well-preserved hilltop castle dates back to the 12th century and is today among the possessions of Abensperg and Traun family.

Today the castle offers to different images to visitors. The South wing, since the renovation on the late 19th century, offers a Romanesque-gothic revival style, whereas the elderly forest-part dates from the 15th century and reveals early gothic construction, especially the defense tower.
